

Editorial Board

Lead Editor

Andrew Madanjian is a freshman English major from Woburn, Massachusetts. In addition to NU Writing, he is also a member of Spectrum Literary Arts Magazine. Aside from reading and writing, his interests include baking chocolate chip cookies, rollerblading, archery, and exploring this great city of Boston. His favorite books are the Harry Potter series, which, he is proud to say, he has read four times.

Lead Conceptual Planner

Delaney Rebernik is a senior English major and communication studies minor from central Jersey. In addition to serving on the NU Writing editorial board, she's been a writing center tutor at Northeastern and Roxbury Community College, and is currently doing freelance editing work for a marketing specialist. She is also actively (anxiously) seeking a post-grad job in publishing. You can check out some of her published pieces in Punchnel's, Apropos Literary Journal, First Stop Fiction, and Issue One of NU Writing.

Copy Editors

Alexandra Forzato is a freshman English and business double major. Her interests lie in historical and young adult fiction. Besides her interests in writing, Alexandra enjoys running around Boston and exploring the city.

Melinda Dix is a fourth year English major with a minor in communication studies. She is originally from Starlight, Pennsylvania and considers herself a recipe junky, relentless perfectionist, and unmistakable Sagittarius. To this day, her favorite book is still My Many Colored Days by Dr. Seuss.

Sarah Gries is a third year English Major from Warren, New Jersey. Her first co-op was at Walden Media, and she hopes to continue a career in publishing after graduation. In addition to NU Writing, Sarah is a sister of Kappa Kappa Gamma and a member of the Interpreting Club. She is an extreme dog lover and all around perfectionist. Her interests lie in reading, baking, design, and long adventurous walks. Her favorite book is To Kill A Mockingbird.

Graduate student advisor: Kristi Girdharry.